Rev. J. N. Grieve,

27 Arundel Avenue,

Liverpool, England.

My dear Grieve:

I was glad to get your letter this morning and to hear that you are coming out for a visit to Canada this spring. I shall be in the city most of the time that you will be here, at least I hope so though Mrs. Falconer sails for the other side about the time that you are to arrive and I am to follow her for a few weeks. Our graduation ceremonial is on the fifth of June so that it will be an interesting time for you to be here, and I hope that when you come I may have an opportunity of seeing something of you. I am sorry that at that time our house will be in such a condition that we cannot have guests as our cook is to be married in May, and we shall have no household establishment.

Murray is now President of the University of Saskatchewan, out in Saskatoon. Morton is now teaching for two months in Vancouver in a college there in Church History. My brother is in Halifax. It is possible that he may be up in this region at the time as he may be coming to the General Assembly which meets in Woodstock, Ontario, in the first week of June.

I hope that this will reach you before you leave. My address is either the University or 69 St. George Street. With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,
